DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 101

1. 35 U.S.C. 101 reads as follows:

Whoever invents or discovers any new and useful process, machine, manufacture, or composition of matter, or any new and useful improvement thereof, may obtain a patent therefor, subject to the conditions and requirements of this title.

2. Claim 16 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 101 because the claimed invention is directed to non-statutory subject matter.

Claim 16 directs to information stored on a medium .Since the information do not provide any function interrelationship to the medium to control medium, read out the information and access the information , or impart to any software and hardware structural components to provide certain function that is processed by a computer, the information on the medium do not make them statutory. See MPEP 2100. It is noted that the body of claims contain only non-functional information and there is no means or circuit used for access and control the recited information. It is noted that in the body of claims, there is no recitation for any functions of the stored information , or means or circuit to interact with the stored information to provide certain function to control the medium or access the information .

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

3. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless -

(e) the invention was described in (1) an application for patent, published under section 122(b), by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent or (2) a patent granted on an application for patent by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent, except that an international application filed under the treaty defined in section 351(a) shall have the effects for purposes of this subsection of an application filed in the United States only if the international application designated the United States and was published under Article 21(2) of such treaty in the English language.

4. Claims 16-19 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) as being anticipated by Kim et al (6,421,499).

Regarding claims 16,17 and 18, Kim discloses an information recording method for recording data on a medium configured to have data recorded thereon and data reproduced therefrom by an information recording/reproducing apparatus, said data including control information and audio/video data having a still picture video object, the medium comprising, a control information area for storing, a still picture audio/video file information table including still picture audio/video file information for managing the still picture video object, and program chain information including cell information for any of a movie video object of the audio/video data and the still picture video object of the audio/video data (Figs. 1-3), wherein said cell information includes cell general information containing information of a cell type corresponding to the still picture video object, start object entry number information of the still picture video object, and end object entry number information of the still picture video object (Fig. 2, column 2), said still picture audio/video file information includes group information of the still picture video object,

said group information includes entry information of the still picture video object; and a data area for recording the audio/video data is configured to include a sub-picture stream (text stream), wherein said entry information includes entry type information containing number information indicating whether the sub-picture stream is included (column 2, lines 30-47), said method comprising: recording the audio/video data on the data area; and storing the control information on the control information area (Fig. 1,3).

Further for claims 18 and 19, Kim teaches reproducing the data from the recording medium (column 39- 67).

Double Patenting

5. The nonstatutory double patenting rejection is based on a judicially created doctrine grounded in public policy (a policy reflected in the statute) so as to prevent the unjustified or improper timewise extension of the "right to exclude" granted by a patent and to prevent possible harassment by multiple assignees. See In re Goodman, 11 F.3d 1046, 29 USPQ2d 2010 (Fed. Cir. 1993); In re Longi, 759 F.2d 887, 225 USPQ 645 (Fed. Cir. 1985); In re Van Ornum, 686 F.2d 937, 214 USPQ 761 (CCPA 1982); In re Vogel, 422 F.2d 438, 164 USPQ 619 (CCPA 1970);and, In re Thorington, 418 F.2d 528, 163 USPQ 644 (CCPA 1969).

A timely filed terminal disclaimer in compliance with 37 CFR 1.321(c) may be used to overcome an actual or provisional rejection based on a nonstatutory double patenting ground provided the conflicting application or patent is shown to be commonly owned with this application. See 37 CFR 1.130(b).

Effective January 1, 1994, a registered attorney or agent of record may sign a terminal disclaimer. A terminal disclaimer signed by the assignee must fully comply with 37 CFR 3.73(b).

6. Claims 16-19 are provisionally rejected under the judicially created doctrine of obviousness-type double patenting as being unpatentable over claims 16-19 of copending Application No. 10/800,626. Although the conflicting claims are not identical, they are not patentably distinct from each other because the difference between claims 16-19 of the present application and claims 16-19 of copending Application No. 10/800,626 is that claims 16-19 of copending Application No. 10/800,626 further recite search pointer information. However, it is noted that eliminating an element is obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art. Therefore, it would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art to modify claims 16-19 of copending Application No. 10/800,681 by eliminating search pointer information from claims 16-19 of copending Application No. 10/800,626 to produce claims 16-19 of the present application. See Elimination of an element and its function----In re Karlson, 153 USPQ 184 (CCPA 1963).

This is a provisional obviousness-type double patenting rejection because the conflicting claims have not in fact been patented.

Conclusion^{*}

- 7. The prior art made of record and not relied upon is considered pertinent to applicant's disclosure. Kageyama et al. teaches apparatus for recording still images.
- 8. Applicant's amendment necessitated the new ground(s) of rejection presented in this Office action. Accordingly, THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. See MPEP § 706.07(a). Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the date of this final action.
